

SALES DEPARTMENT BRIEF

Auto Line — Two Products Retired

Effective immediately · what to pull, and why

Accelerated Experiences, LLC

Prepared for Barry Burris · Sales Director

July 22, 2026

Effective immediately, two products come out of the auto line you sell. Here's which, why, and where to point car conversations instead.

What's retired

- Franchise Dealership OS (was "Driveline") — $950/mo — single-franchise new-car stores.
- Dealer-Group / National-Online OS (was "Motorcade") — $1,200/mo — multi-rooftop groups & national online.

Why — two reasons, both decisive

1. Same product, sold twice. A franchise store and a dealer group run the same system; "one rooftop vs. many" is a pricing tier, not a separate build. We were dressing one SKU up as two.
2. Hardest market we have. Franchise/group auto is owned by the CDK Global – Reynolds & Reynolds DMS duopoly, the automakers often mandate the system, and deals are multi-year enterprise contracts. Not a realistic near-term win — and it burns pipeline we can close elsewhere.

Where the auto energy goes now

One auto product carries the lane — point every car conversation here

4barrel OS (was "Showroom") — independent & used-car dealers — $450/mo. Underserved, price-sensitive, no OEM-mandated system, decides fast. The winnable auto sale.

What this changes for you

- Simpler story, higher close rate — no more defending two look-alike enterprise SKUs against entrenched incumbents.
- No commission loss — we're cutting products that weren't closing, not ones you earned on.
- Redirect prospecting from franchise & dealer-group lots to independent & used-car lots via 4barrel OS.

Context (FYI, not action)

The hub line is being renamed to a clean "____ OS · V6.1" system with four tiers — Lite · Standard · Grand · Suite. Full updated lineup + rate card once names and icons lock; this brief covers only the two retirements so nothing waits.

Effective

Immediately. Pull both products from decks, the rate card, and any active conversation. Questions → Anthony.
